

Comparison of Salary by Gender and Specialisation

Male candidates have both higher and lower salary ranges compared to female candidates. This means male salaries are more spread out.

Female candidates show higher density around the middle salary range, which means more women are grouped around similar salary values.

Single Comparison

Mkt & HR

In Mkt & HR, male candidates have slightly higher salaries compared to female candidates.

Female candidates are more densely concentrated in the middle salary range, showing less variation.

Mkt & Fin

In Mkt & Fin, both male and female candidates have higher salaries compared to Mkt & HR.

Female candidates are again more concentrated in the middle salary range, while male candidates show a wider salary spread.

Conclusion

Mkt & Fin offers better salary opportunities than Mkt & HR, for both male and female candidates.